LARGE CROWD PRESENT FOR GOBLIN DANCE

ICE, FIREMEN WELL-
PLEASSED WITH HALLO-WEEN EVENT HERE

A large crowd of spectators and merry-makers turned out last night for the all-county Halloween street dance sponsored by the Greencastle police and department personnel. Members of both departments were pleased with the response and the masked contestants as well as the onlookers.

The weather, which had cast a doubtful factor on the event, also cooperated in that it raining shortly before the dance got under way and did not rain again until the proceedings were over.

There was plenty of light for the "goblins" and the dancers as a man Peabody left the big lights at his filling station and kept them on throughout the evening. This materially aided in eliminating Walnut and Indiana in the immediate vicinity of the municipal building where the event was held.

Awards were presented to the winners through the courtesy of the merchants. These prizes were announced by means of a speaker.

Music was furnished by the Greencastle high school band and the box records supplied by the Crawleys.

In addition to the band, Mr. Peabody and Mr. Peabody, the committee expressed its appreciation to Charles McCurry, the chairs; Carl Gasper and the boys for the trucks, and to all who helped in any way to make the dance such a big success.

Chief of Police Russell Clapp thanked the boys and girls of the community, with only a few exceptions, for confining the Halloween pranks to good fun. The chief said he and the firemen and police could have even a bigger Halloween next year.

Winning contestants Halloween were:

Nobel Prize To I. U. Professor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (UP)—A 55-year-old professor of zoology at Indiana University is the winner of the coveted Nobel Prize in medicine and physiology for his discovery that X-rays can bring changes in living things.

He is Dr. Hermann Joseph Muller, New York-born geneticist, who learned of the award while attending a scientific conference at the Carnegie Institute here.

Surprised and happy, Muller described the work that won him the prize at a news conference yesterday.

He said his discovery was made 20 years ago at the University of Texas but that it has been developed further since then. His subject was the fruit fly.

By exposing their forebears to X-rays, he said he had been able to produce "all sorts of changes" in fruit flies. They become a race of "giants or dwarfs," he said, or their eyes or hair may change color, as well as their body form and wings. Even extra heads can be produced.

Muller did not think his discovery ever could be used to produce a race of supermen, but he said he hoped it would lead to new knowledge of hereditary changes.

He said such changes by radiation are more often harmful than good. He explained that atomic bomb radiations can cause similar changes in heredity, but that those brought on by the explosion at Hiroshima would not show up for generations.

The atomic radiation might prevent breeding by those affected, he said, "and this might be a good thing because it would prevent the handing down of undesirable mutations."

Muller, who is about 5 feet, 4 inches tall, and balding, said he had not decided yet what he will do with the $33,333 which does with the award.

CHINA TOPIC OF MORRISON TALK TO-DAY

DEPAUW SPEAKER ASSERTS THAT NATION IS VITAL PROBLEM

Referring to China as a crossroads of world politics and economics, Paul Morrison, former financial adviser with the American Army in China, told DePauw University students today that the problem of China is one of the most vital in our lives. Now chairman of the finance department of Northwestern University, Mr. Morrison was a DePauw graduate in the class of 1921.

The speaker outlined his subject around three commonly used expressions—that war came too soon to China, that the Chinese war lasted too long, and that the war ended too abruptly. Concerning the first point, he said that China's Civil War of 20 years ago is still going on. It was not a new war.

Referring to the duration of the war, Mr. Morrison said that a primitive economy such as China has cannot suffer eight years of war without its leaving scars. "The length of the war wore out Chinese patience, caused certain controls to become ingrained, and lowered the moral fiber of China," he said.

"The war ended too abruptly," according to Mr. Morrison, "because 39 divisions of the Chinese army had been trained and equipped by the United States to the point that they were finally able to do something other than retreat."

China has had for a long time two totalitarian regimes, he continued. The speaker said that General Marshall's attempt to reconcile the Nationalist and Communist groups is an impossible task. He indicated that perhaps the United States is to blame for the situation.

GREENCASTLE OPA OFFICE WILL CLOSE

As far as Putnam county is concerned, the OPA will pass out of the picture next Monday, when the local office of price fixing will close permanently, along with many hundreds of others over the nation. Along with this, passing, will go tens of thousands of OPA employees who have been on the pay-roll since the inception of price regulations. At one time the OPA had nearly 100,000 paid employees on its list.

OPA Passes Half-Way Mark In Decontrolling the Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—OPA has passed the half-way mark in decontrolling the national economy.

At the peak of controls during the war, 80 per cent of the economy was under price ceilings. But the figure has now dropped to about 40 per cent, with much of the decrease registered during the past three weeks under President Truman's decontrol speed-up order.

OPA freed another big batch of items today, continuing the piecemeal release of its master decontrol order. The newest installment included various kinds of wearing apparel which account for 10 per cent of the nation's clothing purchases. Among them were men's and women's hats, neckties, bathing suits and trunks, some fabric gloves, handbags, belts and suspenders.

Other decontrolled items were household cleaning powders, (but not soap or soap products), alloy steels, silver, iron ore shipped after Jan. 1, 1947, tire recapping and repair services, and certain sizes of recapped and used tires.

On Monday, OPA's 1,543 remaining local price control boards go out of business. The decision to close them, announced yesterday, means dismissal of notices for 8,613 employees as of Nov. 12.

Rent controls will be administered through the 650 OPA area rent office. Eighty-eight additional areas are being brought under rent controls today, because of the acute housing shortage.

Disbanding of the neighborhood price boards marked the passing of another wartime landmark. Price administrator Paul Porter praised their contribution to the war effort, singling out board members who worked without pay for special praise.

During the war, the boards passed out more than 500,000,000 war ration books and about 250,000,000 gasoline rations.

OPA officials said the agency will continue to issue its master decontrol list in segments. Next week, it will have ready a list of items which it intends to keep under control a while longer. Officials were frank to admit, however, that the more important decontrol decisions are being made at the White House.

The following were among the items decontrolled today:

Radio parts and tubes, vitamins in packages and in bulk form, compounded medical prescriptions, adhesives composed of clay and asbestos.

Men's and boy's scarfs and mufflers, garters and hose supporters, hat bodies and trimmings, veils dress and semi-dress fabric gloves and mittens, wardrobe bags, laundry bags, separate men's collars, shoe bags, make-up and shampoo cases, facial tissue containers, arm bands, shopping bags, cosmetic bags, handkerchief bags, stocking cases, lingerie cases, beach bags, pot holders, muff bags.

Collars, cuffs and neckbands for men's shirts, trouser and coat pockets, button hole binding, waistbands and button hole tabs for boy's pants and knickers, knitted cuffs, waistbands and collars for snow suits, sweaters, lumberjackets.

Rayon satin cuffs used as windbreakers; dust caps, sleeve protectors, knitted arm warmers, rug and carpet binding bleached and processed cotton, sold in rolls and sheets, powder puffs, bottle warmers, shoulder pads, ammunition belts, sanitary belts, burial garments, knitted outerwear types, clothing used in playing basketball, softball, baseball, boxing, wrestling, football, soccer, fencing, lacrosse, hockey and horseracing.

Trucks with a maximum weight of over 16,000 pounds, 2-ton or larger commercial truck trailers for highway use, automotive and bicycle mud guards and flaps, pedal pads and window wiper blades.

Recapped and used tires of size 8.25 cross section and larger, tire recapping and repair services, camel back, belting used industrially, binding board and export-type tight coopeage paper.

Accused Hikes Embezzled Sum

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 1.—(UP)—W. Arthur Nickel, 46, a smiling $60-a-week cashier arrested in the lobby of a swanky Miami Beach hotel and accused of embezzling $600,000 from a New York firm, said today the correct figure was $750,000.

Nickel was arrested last night a few hours after New York police broadcast an alarm for him. Detectives Ernest Harrison and Clarence Huddleston took him into custody as he emerged from the elevator of the Colony Hotel where he had been staying since Wednesday under the name of Philip Haas of Baltimore.

When the detectives told him he was wanted for embezzling $600,000 from the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., New York, Nickel replied: "You're wrong. It was $750,000."

He said he would not fight extradition but refused to comment further on the charges, saying he had an attorney in New York City.

Police said he had $700 cash on him when he was arrested. Nickel had been sought since Monday when he disappeared from his home at Freeport, Long Island, a few hours before police arrived to arrest him.

TEMPLE TO BE CENTRAL OFFICE IN CHEST DRIVE

FIRST FLOOR ROOMS OF MASONIC BUILDING ARE SECURED

Most recent development in plans for the opening of the Putnam County Community Chest drive, November 12, is the establishment of a central office. Morris Hunter, chairman for the county-wide campaign, announced today that the Masonic Temple had provided space in its first floor rooms for this purpose.

Mrs. Mildred Armstrong has accepted the duties of secretary of the fund collection. Contributions may be made directly to this office and all workers in the campaign will make their reports to this address.

One of the agencies that will benefit by the county Chest funds will be the Salvation Army. Mr. Hunter offers the following resume of Salvation Army work to prospective Community Chest donors:

The Salvation Army's major source of financial support is contributions from the public. Virtually all of their many and varied activities are dependent upon these funds.

As a social service organization, the Salvation Army is "designed to operate as a religious and charitable corporation in all of the states and territories of the United States." Its purposes are enumerated as follows: the spiritual, moral and physical reformation of all who need its help, the reclamation of the vicious, criminal, dissolute and degraded; visitation among the poor and lowly and sick and the preaching of the Gospel.

During World War I, the Salvation Army earned the reputation of being an agency that quietly ascertained where trouble was at its worst and proceeded to give aid.

At the outbreak of World War II, the Salvation Army took the initiative in calling together American representatives of other great religious-social organizations and planned for the massive relief work that lay ahead.

Among the services given by Salvation Army in peacetime are the following: youth work, family service, social service centers, workmen's and women's hotels, employment bureaus, maternity homes and hospitals and prison service.

The Salvation Army regards itself as engaged in a continual fight against all forces of evil and all of its operations are incidental to that end.

Mr. Hunter expressed the belief that every donor to the Community Chest would welcome and opportunity to donate to the "fighting Salvation Army."

President Goes Home To Vote

ABOARD PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Nov. 1.—(UP)—President Truman arrives at his Independence, Mo., home today to vote in next Tuesday's vital election, apparently still determined to make no campaign speeches.

It appeared likely, however, that Mr. Truman would make a brief platform appearances en route when his special train made brief stops in three Missouri cities. Stops were scheduled at St. Louis, Jefferson City (12:30 p. m. CST) and Sedalia (1:45 p. m. CST).

The presidential train was due at Independence at 3:30 p. m. (CST), after an overnight run from Washington.

A Democratic rally was scheduled for tonight only a few blocks from Mr. Truman's home, but he will not attend. He planned to spend the evening with his aged mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, at her home at Grandview, about 17 miles from Independence.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, a member of the presidential party, will be featured speaker at the rally.

Speculation persisted that the President may change his mind and speak up for Democratic candidates before election day.

Speaking before the first session of the administrative and budgetary committee, Vandenberg said that "during the present emergency" the U. S. will agree to pay as much as a third of the costs. This year the U. S. paid 25 per cent.

COAL STRIKE NEGOTIATIONS ARE UNDERWAY

JOHN L. LEWIS CONFERS WITH FEDERAL OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (INS)—United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis today boycotted the opening sessions of a government UMW conference called to hear his demands for new wage increases for 499,000 soft coal miners.

A UMW delegation, headed by Vice President John O'Leary, initiated the talks with Federal Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collisson.

The conferees met for an hour and a half and then adjourned until 2:30 P. M. without commenting on results of the morning session.

It was indicated that Lewis would continue to shun the meetings until Interior Secretary J. A. Krug returns from a western tour next week.

As the government-union discussions got underway, the bituminous coal operators negotiating committee issued a statement terming any government decision to reopen the existing Krug-Lewis mine contract "abject surrender" and a "public disgrace." The operators said: "This shabby decision to capitulate to Lewis' demand for a reopening of the agreement is so bad that even its authors have been unable to utter a word in its favor."

"If the country-wide ownership of property can be set aside in such summary fashion, it is time that the American people realize the serious and far-reaching implications of such action."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (UP)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers (AFL) move into a government conference room today for negotiations which may direct the next turn in federal wage policy and fix chances for labor peace this winter.

Reluctantly waiting at the bargaining table were officials of the Federal Coal Administration which has operated the soft coal mines since their seizure last May. Lewis gave no indication whether he would unfold his new contract demands today or treat the first session as routine, pending the return of Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug from the west next week.

Krug named Capt. N. H. Collisson, federal mine administrator, to represent him at the meeting. Both wanted Lewis to negotiate with the mine owners, but Lewis wanted a new agreement with the government first.

Neither Krug nor Collisson has conceded that Lewis could reopen the present agreement, although Lewis viewed their invitation as acceptance of his claim that the contract could be reopened. He was reported to have a commitment on that count from other administration officials.

Meanwhile Krug's aides took the position that they would at least hear what the miners had to say.

But what the government does about Lewis' demands will be more important. The 18½-cent wage increase granted the UMW in the government agreement last May was the maximum allowable under present wage policy. Any contemplated policy changes must be adopted before new wage concessions can be granted to the miners.

Lewis was expected to ask a reduction in the miners' 54-hour (Continued on Page Four)

Paint, Tomatoes Hurlled At Police

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 1. (UP)—Authorities sought today to control crowds of spectators who have contributed to the violence at the strikebound Allis-Chalmers farm equipment plant by throwing paint and rotten tomatoes at police and sheriff's deputies.

Meanwhile, the CIO United Automobile Workers union continued mass picketing of the sprawling plant in a desperate effort to stem a back-to-work movement which threatens to break the bitter strike, now in its 185th day. After four successive days of violence on the picket lines, there was no indication that either the company or union was ready to give ground.

While pickets formed at the plant gates, thousands of spectators assembled again in a parkway across the street. Police said that most of the bystanders who have participated in the fighting have been of teen age, and entered into the melee in the spirit of Halloween.

Violet Basack, 18-year-old high school girl of suburban Greenfield, Wis., was arrested yesterday for spitting at an officer. Charged with disorderly conduct, she was released on $25 bond. Police said all others arrested so far have been union members.

UN Delegates Down To Work

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(UP)—The Unitation General Assembly, after more than a week of issue-making general debate, buckled down today to "shirt-sleeve" work.

Before it were the trouble-packed questions of world disarmament, the Big Five veto, Franco Spain and the rights of dependent peoples.

UN diplomats abandoned temporarily their big assembly hall at Flushing Meadows and moved further out on Long Island to the UN's semi-permanent headquarters here. They were ready for a long siege of committee meetings and a chain of showdown debates.

Four of the assembly's six 51-member working committees were called into session today—two in the morning and two in the afternoon—with the remaining two slated to convene for the first time tomorrow.

The social, humanitarian and cultural committee and the administrative and budgetary committee scheduled their first meetings of the current session for 10 a. m. to be followed by the economic-financial and the trusteeship committees in the afternoon. Most delegates predicted purely organizational formalities.

But there was no guarantee against an immediate beginning of the expected fireworks in committees like that dealing with trusteeship or social, humanitarian and cultural issues.

CLOVERDALE

Cloverdale P. T. A. members who attended the P. T. A. Regional meeting at Crawfordsville Tuesday October 29th, were Mrs. Ruth Neier, Mrs. Elvina Ray, Mrs. Dema Ruple and Mrs. Agnes Trippett. They report a very inspirational meeting and a delicious turkey luncheon at the First Christian Church in Crawfordsville.

Mrs. Catherine Heine of Jackson, Miss., and her mother, Mrs. Fred Breibraver of Terre Haute, friends of Mrs. W. C. Allender called on her Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neier, Barbara and Irwin were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Neier's brother-in-law Fred Fordice in Russellville.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Sutherland and girls were Tuesday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Langdon.

Mrs. Ida Evans, mother of Mrs. Nannie Furr, passed away Wednesday morning at 4:00 at her home. Funeral was Friday afternoon at Cloverdale Methodist church.

The Junior Class of Cloverdale School held a carnival and chicken dinner at the school Tuesday evening October 29th. There was a good attendance and it was a great success. Prizes were awarded to Joan Langdon, Bobby Langdon and Marion Stierwalt for the best Halloween costumes. Those who received prizes in the Cake Walk were Mrs. Mildred Bastin, Betty Lou Halton, Ann Sutherland and Mary Cummins.

Cloverdale High School first basketball game of the season will be held Friday evening when they will play Fillmore here.

Duroc Breeders Elect Officers

Putnam County Duroc hog breeders formed a county organization and elected officers in a meeting at the county extension office last Monday night October 28.

Willis Clodfelter, Russell township farmer was elected president of the new organization with Richard Mann of Cloverdale as vice president and John Ames of Marion township, secretary.

Eight breeders of registered Durocs were in attendance at the organization meeting and they are anxious that all farmers interested in Durocs contact any of the officers or the county extension office and become affiliated.

The spring sale of the State Duroc Association is scheduled to be held in the Greencastle Sales Pavilion in February and the local breeders are considering a bred gilt sale following this state event. Encouragement of more 4-H club members to carry Duroc sow and litter projects was another subject discussed at Monday night's session.

The forming of the new breed association in addition to those already established is just another indication of the movement to make Putnam County a livestock center.

To The Voters:

Some are still being purposely misinformed as to my record.

1. When the Governor's Widows Pension Bill passed the Senate on Feb. 1st, 1945, I was ill at my home in Bainbridge as Dr. Veach's record will show.

2. The $100,000 appropriated for the purchase of the Governor's Home and furnishings was in the Biannual State Budget Appropriation bill and the matter of purchase was left entirely to the discretion of the State Budget Committee, composed of two Democrats and two Republicans. Every appropriation to carry on all state business was in this budget bill and it was passed by a unanimous vote. (Page 467 Acts of '45).

3. I was not on the committee to which was referred the Soldiers Bonus bill, and had no opportunity to take any action on the bonus bill.

4. I have been publicly criticized for voting for the Indiana World War Memorial Building measure, which reads as follows: "To provide for its completion according to the original plans adopted by the trustees of the Indiana War Memorial, appropriation of money for the completion of such plans for the erection and maintenance thereon of suitable structures to commemorate the valor and sacrifice of soldiers, sailors and marines of the United States and all who have and are making sacrifices at home and over seas in the World Wars I and II and to establish headquarters for all patriotic organizations". I am proud I voted for this bill. What would you have thought of me had I not? You mothers and fathers, young men and women who made such tremendous sacrifices? When even a nation, state or citizen fail to recognize and honor its heroes whether living or dead they have fallen into a hopeless position.

O. BRUCE LANE

Candidate for re-election as Joint State Senator from Montgomery and Putnam Counties.

Looking at Life
Erich Brandeis'

Every once in a while human beings do something spontaneously that carefully thought out deliberations could never accomplish.

There was a good example of that in Westport, Conn., the other day.

Westport is a town of about eight or ten thousand people, inhabited by businessmen, storekeepers, artists, writers and the usual people of all types and kinds.

There are also, in Westport, twenty-one veterans' families who need housing very badly.

A housing project had been started, but there was the usual shortage of materials and labor, and the Federal Housing Authority was about to withdraw badly needed supplies, such as refrigerators and stoves, from the project—when spontaneity came to the rescue.

A meeting was called and, right there on the spot, it was suggested that the citizens of Westport themselves should finish the project.

The editor of the Westporter Herald wrote a two-page advertisement which was published in the paper, asking all citizens to come to the place where the housing project was in progress—or rather at a standstill—to bring their own hammers and particularly eight-penny nails and go to work over Saturday and Sunday.

And, lo and behold, the Brotherhood of Carpenters quickly issued permission to anybody who wanted to work to do so regardless of union affiliation.

On Saturday almost a hundred volunteers went to work.

Many of them had not used a hammer for anything more strenuous than hanging a picture. There was the editor of one of the largest magazines in the country, tacking tar paper on the roof of one of the buildings. Next to him was a banker and on the adjoining building there were two famous artists, working harder than they ever would at their drawing boards and having a heck of a good time at it.

At noon lunch was served by the Women's Club, and some of the town's most prominent do-wagers handed out frankfurters and coffee.

The same thing was repeated Sunday and will be repeated again next week until the job is finished.

Before winter sets in 21 families of veterans will be installed in their new homes—homes built by good will, by the good-neighbor spirit and by the hearts of human beings.

It seems to me that there is a lesson in all this.

It seems to me that the same spirit that built those Westport houses can build peace and good will between capital and labor and between nations and races.

The spirit is there—or those people would not have answered the call. It is there in all of us, if we will only use it.

As one of the newspapers expressed it: "The Brotherhood of Man joined with the Brotherhood of Carpenters today."

That's the kind of union we need!

Sally Rand Is Jailed Again

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Sally Rand, who made the ostrich famous, was sent to jail early today for waving fans too freely.

Vice squad officers who arrested her after her nightly show at a downtown theater said she got so wrapped up in her work she forgot to wrap up in her fans. "I'm fully costumed," she protested to goggle-eyed police. "And what's more I was doing my usual artistic dance."

Sgt. W. H. Madden said if

I've been dancing here since 1933," she said.

Miss Rand, who gave her age as 42, was promptly released on $500 bail. Arrested with her was show manager Howard R. Williams, 33 who also posted bail.

work week with pay raises to off-set, at least in part, the resulting cut in weekly take home pay.

An indication of how a strike would affect the country was given by the Solid Fuels Administration last night. The agency reported the nation's coal stockpiles on Oct. 1 contained 52,367,000 tons, a 37-day supply. There was a 36-day supply on hand Sept. 1.

There was a 58-day supply last spring before the April-May strikes, which the White House termed a "national disaster."

Because of unequal distribution of stocks, a strike would have an immediate effect on some consumers.

The SFA report showed electric utilities had an average 70-day supply Oct. 1; by-product coke ovens, 23 days; steel and rolling mills, 35 days; cement mills, 41 days; class 1 railroads, 30 days; other industries, 58 days; retail dealers, 12 days.

THE FATE OF THE WORLD literally lies in the hands of the eight persons shown here and their more than 500 fellow delegates at the United Nations assembly, which is convening in Flushing Meadows, N. Y. The octet shown above is the U. S. delegation to the world organization's meeting and includes Sen. Warren Austin of Vermont, Sen. Arthur W. Vandenberg of Michigan, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sen. Tom Connolly of Texas, John Foster Dulles, Rep. Helen Gahagan of California, Rep. Sol Bloom of New York and Herschel V. Johnson. Senator Austin, who was appointed to succeed the resigned Edward R. Stettinius, heads the American group for the all-important session of the UN assembly and represents the U. S. on the vital security council, which must deal with atomic bomb control and the "veto" question as well as lesser ills in the organization of a world peace. (Internationally)

Every Step an Ordeal,
Retonga Brings Relief

Weight And Appetite Regained, Mr. Cook Now Feels Much Stronger, Eats Anything, And Sleeps Well. Discusses Case.

Mr. J. A. Cook

"Every step I took was an ordeal and a two block walk left me almost exhausted. I had about given up hope until I took Retonga and found such splendid relief that friends often ask me what I did to feel so fine," enthusiastically declares Mr. J. A. Cook, retired business man of Stockbridge, Ga.

"My appetite was so poor, continued Mr. Cook, "I didn't care whether mealtime came or not. Sour indigestion tormented me and gas pains sometimes seemed about to cut me in two. Soft foods caused as much distress as solids. Gas pressure made sleep almost impossible and mornings I felt as worn-out as I had the night before. Constipation was so stubborn that strong laxatives helped me very little. I lost weight and it was hard even to do a few chores about the house."

"Retonga gave me such prompt relief from all this distress that none could be more grateful. I now have a splendid appetite, eat whatever I want and sleep fine. Constipation is relieved; I feel greatly strengthened and better in every way. I can never say half enough for this grand medicine."

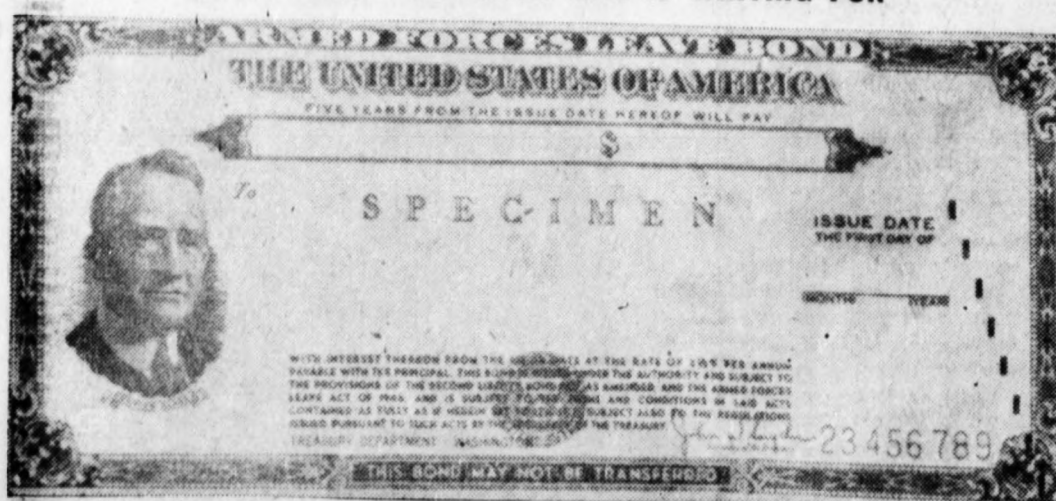

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Mullins Drug Store. — Adv.

PENTHOUSE PARSONAGETO BE 25 STORES UP

CHICAGO (UP)—Dr. Charles Ray Goff will become a penthouse parson when his Methodist parsonage 25 stories above the Loop is finished about a year from now.

Blueprints have been drawn for a five-roof parsonage for Goff and his wife on the 25th and 26th floors of the Chicago Temple (First Methodist Church) in downtown Chicago.

They will live right beneath the chimes that ring out above traffic's din. And above the chimes, which have been ringing for years, a small chapel will be built.

BRIDGE JUMPING ASIDE.C. O. HAS TO LUNCH

EAST ST. Louis, Ill. (UP)—

Three policemen talked for an hour and a half to dissuade a war veteran from jumping from the Eads bridge over the Mississippi while the desk sergeant tried to get a Coast Guard rescue boat to the scene.

The veteran was finally dragged back to safety, but the boat never showed up. Police Sgt. Byrd Carey said when he phoned the Coast Guard station he was told:

"Sorry, but the commanding officer is out eating. I'll tell him about it as soon as he gets back."

NAVY TO THE RESCUE

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—

Mosquitoes in two Seattle-area swamps are being fought by modern warfare tactics. After a continuous land-borne DDT attack, the city health department borrowed a landing craft from the Navy to permit a flanking water-borne mopping-up assault on the pests.

TIME TO SOBER UP?

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UP)—

Police here have concluded, after picking up the same inebriated 24 times, that the man is bending over backwards to keep from losing that week-end.

Every time he brushed with the law he either has a stolen clock in his possession or has already hocked it at a pawn shop. And they're always alarm clocks.

AND SO THEY WERE WED

BROCKTON, Mass. (UP)—

Forty years ago Peter A. Lynch of Milford kept "steady company" with a neighborhood girl, and folks said they certainly would wed.

They did get married, but not to each other.

By chance, they met again this year as a Fourth of July party. Learning that their respective spouses had died, they resumed "steady company" and now are married.

Amarillo Better Business Bureau reports an incident of an old marked bill racket which was worked on an Amarillo merchant. The bureau says a man walked into a store and paid for merchandise with a $10 bill marked with a telephone number.

Then a woman came in. She paid with a $1 bill. When the clerk handed her the change, she protested that she had handed him a $10 bill, maker with a telephone number.

The clerk looked at his cash register. There was the bill, and he gave the woman $9 more.

HERE Are The FACTS

The facts brought out in this advertisement were obtained from the Librarian of the Legislative Bureau in Indianapolis in a letter dated October 14, 1946.

"Since I am running for re-election on my past record in the State Senate, and some are being misinformed as to my record, it is proper that I state my position on a few of the measures most frequently discussed."

"I never voted for the Governors Widows Pension Law."

"Money for the Governor's home was in the State Budget appropriation bill and the matter was left entirely up to the judgment of the State Budget Committee, composed of two Republicans and two Democrats."

"I voted for all bills that benefitted service men and veterans."

"I have fought for economy so far as is consistent with good government. Have always weighed carefully the problems of men and women in all walks of life and have tried to be fair and just in all my decisions."

O. BRUCE LANE

Candidate for Joint State Senator on the Republican Ticket.

Committee Of Taxpayers

1. Public record shows only one vote against the Governors Widows' Pension Bill. Senator Free of Davies and Knox counties cast the dissenting vote.
2. On the bill providing for an appropriation for the purchase of Governor's home the Joint State Senator from Putnam and Montgomery counties voted "Aye". This bill passed by 34 "Ayes", 0 "noes". An added expense of $125,000 to the taxpayers.
3. The roll call of the Senate shows the Senator voted "Aye" on House Bill No. 329 to increase the salaries of county officials. An added burden of several thousand dollars to the taxpayers.
4. House bill No. 376 to remodel the State House at an additional expenditure of $500,000 was passed by 42 "ayes", 0 "noes". The Joint Senator voted "aye" on this bill.
5. The Joint Senator voted "aye" on House Bill No. 22 -- the Welfare Bill which increased state expenses $12,000 by creating two additional officials.
6. The World War Memorial Building measure, House Bill No. 150 carried with the Joint Senator voting "aye", an expense of $2,000,000.
7. The Soldier Bonus bill was introduced by Representative Louis F. Baldon, a Democrat, of South Bend. The bill died in committee.

LUCKY AT CARDS, UNLUCKYWITH HARDBOILED JUDGE

LONG BEACH, Cal. (UP)—

Despite a half-hour display of his tricks and dice-rolling, Claude M. Harvey, 45 failed to convince a judge he wouldn't resort to armed robbery "when an ear-win money is at stake."

Unimpressed by Harvey's count of how much money "earned" at gambling, judge convicted him of racketeering and sentenced him to 10 years in the state penitentiary. The judge said the defendant was "remarkable."

BAREFOOT BOY TO FIND

DENIM HARD TO GET

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP) —

Children's clothing manufacturers paint a very blue picture of the denim situation, and over-all and jeans survey showed today.

Farm boys, who used to be the symbol of robust, shirt-sleeved America in their sturdy blue denims, are growing up these days in striped shorts, used army breeches and dad's castoff pants cut down.

But instead of getting better the yardage shortage is getting worse, the Hirsch-Weiss Co., which just quit making overalls and jeans, announced.

LADIES, PLEASE!

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—Approximately 35 women scrambled toward a supply of scarce soap flakes and bowed over the chain store stock boy. One woman lost a tooth in the scrimmage. The crowd dispersed when the soap flakes were sold out.

LET'S EAT 'EM FRESH

LE SUEUR, Minn. (UP)—Edward B. Cosgrove, president of the Minnesota Valley Cannery Co., says foods can be preserved commercially by using radio-active salts. But the cost is prohibitive. For example, a can of peas would cost $3,000.

GI STUDENTS PREFER CLASSICS TO JAZZ

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Former GI's attending the University of Southern California say they would be soothed by symphonies over the radio rather than be "sent" by swingsters.

A survey made by the Daily

Trojan, student newspaper, showed that 60 per cent of the veterans preferred classical music while 35 per cent stood by swing.

Eighty per cent turned thumbs down on audience-participation shows.

The survey was taken to determine what the campus wanted to hear over the university's new FM radio station, KUSC, now under construction.

BRICK CHAPEL METHODIST

A. Lewis Meredith, Minister.

The Bible School must be a school of enthusiasm if it does the best for all.

Brick Chapel has been a religious wayside inn for generations where people may tarry, feel at home, then depart feeling refreshed in the Lord who is the water of life.

The morning worship hour should be an hour of spiritual recuperation or inducement. The pastor will discuss obedience to law. Let us meet together.
